> in August 1825 Dr. James C. Furman was educa ted at the Charleston College. He had intended becoming a physician, but in 1828 was baptized by Dr. Basil Manly and renounced the study of medicine for the ministry. Among his classmates at the Charleston Col lege were Bishop Wightman, of the Methodist Church, Dr. Edwin Buist, ex-Judge Bryan, of the United States court, and Professor Bruns, of the Charleston College. Dr. Furman commenced preaching before he was of age. Before taking charge of a church he attended the Baptist theo logical school at Sumter, taught by Dr. Jesse Hartwell and Dr. Samuel urman, an older brother of the stutent, and there obtained his dicorogcal training. He assisted in a number of revivals in Edgefield, Beaufort and Robertsing lamps. Drop in at night and you will ville. It is first church was at Cam den, where he remained a short time. He was then called to Society Hill to the pastrate of the renowned "Welsh Neck" church. He remained at Society Hill ten years, the only intermission being one year as pastor of the Second Baptist church of Charles-

In 1844 he left Society Hill and became a member of the Furman Theological Institution in Fairfield county, near Winnsboro. This institution was established by the Baptists of the State for the benefit of theological students. The other members of the faculty were the Rev. P. C Edwards, the Rev. J. S. Mims and the Rey. Dr. Reynolds, all ot whom are dead. He remained there until 1849, when he was sent out by the Baptists of the State to select a site pears in this issue; also the advertisement | for a more important institution and he came to Greenville, selected the THE DIRECTORS OF THE EASLEY present site of Furman University, saw that building go up, and was then elected chairman of the faculty.
